The Recession is NOT over!

It ain't over ... 'til it's over!

You have probably heard it said ... "Those who fail to study history are doomed to repeat it." -- Well ...

During the depression of the 1930s, every time there was even slight improvement in the economy, there were those who shouted from the rooftops "The depression is over, the depression is over." But, it wasn't.

The same holds true today. -- It ain't over and won't be over for some time.

You really don't need the false hope offered by those who tell you it's over.

You better start doing something for yourself ... before the stuff really hits the fan.

Just be prepared. Don't go looking for another J.O.B. (Just Over Broke) ... create your own job by starting your own business. Something you can depend upon to keep the money coming in.

Don't just try to "survive" during the current Financial Crises, turn it into an opportunity to make your personal fortune.

During times of Financial Crises ... like now ... opportunities to make BIG Money increase exponentially. -- As a matter of pure fact, there were more fortunes made during the Great Depression of the 1930s than at any other time in our history, or since.

OR ... You can wait for our economy to recover and starve to death waiting.

And, follow the advice of the Boy Scouts and "Be Prepared"
